Double Major: Italian and English

I was a double major in Italian and English. I thought Italian would be a fun language to explore. Take the time to make friends because they can help make your education feel a little easier. Having friends make what you're studying a lot of fun. Italian is a well-rounded major. You're not just learning the language itself. You are also learning the history of the language and the people who speak it. The classes are interesting and there are opportunities outside the classroom to learn even more.
